Presidio Residential Capital Hires Senior Financial Professional

SAN DIEGO – February 13, 2018 – Robin Lewis, a real estate industry veteran with more than 20 years of experience and a strong background in financial management, has joined the team at Presidio Residential Capital.

“We’re thrilled to have someone with Robin’s depth of experience in financial management,” said Presidio principal Paul Lucatuorto. “She will also be a great addition to the Presidio team due to her extensive knowledge of the real estate industry.”

In her new role, Lewis will perform a number of financial duties, both internally and in conjunction with Presidio’s builder partners. She will provide financial oversight for projects with joint venture partners and lenders and act as a liaison between Presidio’s asset managers and principals.

“I look forward to helping provide strategic financial oversight that will bring direct value to Presidio and its business partners,” Lewis said.

Before she joined Presidio, Lewis spent 16 years with The Corky McMillin Companies. As Senior Vice President of Finance, she focused on the development and implementation of corporate financial strategies and communicated with McMillin’s business partners and lenders. Before that, Lewis was a manager at KPMG in Phoenix, where she worked primarily with real estate and public company clients.

A certified public accountant, Lewis graduated magna cum laude from the University of Arizona with a bachelor’s degree in business administration in both finance and accounting.
